

SOMETHING'S NOT RIGHT

An 8-Channel Fixed Media Piece

BY CONNOR ZEMKE

Program Notes

This piece is inspired by the medical struggles and surgery that I had to go through over the past couple months. The frustration with just wanting to feel better and the anxiety associated with not knowing how the recovery process will go are emotions that greatly affected me over the course of this time and continue to influence me. At some points during the process, the best I could do is just hope for the best, and at the time of writing this, I am still hoping for a full and healthy recovery. I hope that people who hear this piece and have dealt with anything similar will be able to relate and connect with the episodic nature of the piece.
